George Fox University

Newberg, Oregon

"Walk Your Road" was the theme that carried us through the 1999-

2000 school year. As we look at the names, faces and activities

that shaped our experience
here at Fox,
the one question

remains:
"Which
road did you choose?"

Activities

The most memorable aspects of college life often happen outside of the classroom. Whether it be at a dance, concert, Bruin brawl, or retreat, George Fox students know how to get down and relax on the weekends!

Freshman Orientation

Orientation is that time of year that marks the beginning of a new chapter in one's life. It is a strange state to be in when you realize that you are now growing up; you are now forced to think about what you will do with your life, while trying to ease into this new place that will be home for the next four years.

College is an experience in itself, an experience that is successful only when properly trained and welcomed into. Freshmen and transfers alike came together the weekend before the first day of classes. The weekend set before them would be one to remember. "Walk Your Road," the orientation theme for this year, proved to be one that would be carried out during the 1999-2000 George Fox experience.

Many came to uncover the road to take and the path to choose. New students busily moved in with the help of their new friends in white orientation T-shirts. Opportunities were presented for involvement in the year's activities. Students tried not only to remember where to go next, but to find where that place was, and through all of this still attempted to figure out who those people wearing red shirts were.

Orientation included small group activities, as well as barbeques and games. Freshmen and transfers still remember those first few days that merged them into their new college career here at Fox.

Serve Day

On September 8th, George Fox students and faculty participated in something that no other school in the Northwest has done. A total of 1,400 people, from the President to the newest freshman, made up the twenty-member teams. These teams went to over 70 locations in Yamhill County, shutting down the entire campus for a day to do various community service projects.

This day was seen as one of the most productive days in George Fox's history. As a body, we went to non-profit organizations, churches, and individuals with special needs. Typical projects included painting, yardwork, and church improvements. Rachel Kremiller thought it was "a great way to get involved with the community. It was also a great opportunity to put our faith into action." Serve Day became not only the talk of the George Fox campus but it seemed the whole Northwest took interest in our "day off." The Oregonian even featured the day of service on the front page of its newspaper.

The day concluded with a late afternoon celebration. GFU staff took on the students in a game of softball, work teams reported their day's activities, and participants enjoyed music, food, and all-around fellowship. It provided not only a time to get to know others in one's living area, but also to get involved with the community. People who received the service were blessed as well as the faculty and students who participated. Freshman Melissa McKenzie noted, "The church I worked at is the same church I now attend."

Presidential Inauguration

Although he had already served in the position for nearly a year, Dr. H. David Brandt was officially inaugurated into the office of University President on August 30, 1999. The evening before the official inauguration, Dr. Brandt and his wife, Melva, held a special time where the students were invited to come and get to know their new president. This evening also included a time of worship with the Chapel Band and an opportunity for students to surround and pray for the Brandts and for their ministry on this campus. The actual inauguration ceremony was held during the chapel hour, and George Fox faculty members were in full academic regalia for the occasion. The ceremony featured addresses from the students, represented by ASC President Ryan Dougherty, faculty, by Dr. Becky Ankeny, the alumni, and representatives of the academic and business communities, including Newberg mayor Charles Cox and Oregon senator John Lim. Tom Johnson, Ph.D., Dean of George Fox Seminary in Portland, gave the inaugural address, and music was led by Derric Johnson. Dr. Brandt came to George Fox from Tabor College in Kansas where he served as president for three years. He received both his undergraduate education and his doctorate in physics from Wheaton College. We hope he will be here at Fox for many years to come!

Christmas Celebration

The George Fox Christmas celebration included the All-Campus Christmas Party at which students, staff, faculty and their families were entertained by carolers, a brass quintet made up of George Fox students, and an extensive Christmas dinner served in Heacock Commons. The musical performance MasterPeace was presented each evening, featuring the Handbell Choir, DaySpring, Concert Band, and the Concert Choir. DaySpring continued the tradition of wearing Dickens-esque costumes during their performance.

Larry Shelton and Debbie Johnson, wife of choir director Derric Johnson, served as the Masters of Ceremonies, entertaining the audience with short stories and background information for the songs being performed. Bright lights and fog during the choir performance added to the magic of the MasterPeace experience. Also included in the Christmas Celebration were the annual Candlelight Vespers and the campus lighting ceremony, where the white lights that decorated campus buildings and the clock tower were turned on, giving the whole campus a warm, festive atmosphere.

Fall Activities

Fall activities were a chance for the students to get involved, take a break from the everyday routine of homework, and infuse the campus with weekend life. Just a few events that took place were the movie on the clock tower lawn, the ever-popular 70's dance, Fall retreat, the Irish dance, and the Dating Game. A new event this year during a hot day in September was Serve Day. ASC committees worked around the clock to put these activities together, providing students with times of fellowship, entertainment, and relaxation.

Spring Activities

Spring semester was just as packed as the fall; students never experienced a lack of things to do. (Even in Newberg!) With everything from Spring Formal to Senior Chapel, members of the George Fox community enjoyed fellowship, laughter, and even some embarrassment. By the time commencement came around, students had experienced quite the full year.

Serve Trips

Hey, wanna go to Mexico? What about Idaho, or maybe the coast, or even Canada? These were just some of the places where serve trips traveled this year. As usual, the trips were very successful. Winter serve trips took place following New Year's Day; the theme was Y2K, or "Yes to the King." Due to the overwhelming eagerness of the students to participate, another trip was added to the four winter trips originally scheduled. Spring serve trips took place during spring break, initiating an incredible turnout of students. Many of the groups held fundraisers to support their missions through car washes, bake sales, and even a chapel offering that became a huge blessing to the Mexico trip.

Winter and spring serve trips allowed students the opportunity to travel, to meet new people, and to be a servant for the kingdom of God. Many serve trips enabled the participants to be humbled and to appreciate all they have ever had and what they have now in the present.

Serve trips are excellent opportunities which reap more blessings than expected. They show you how to be reliant on God when your van breaks down or when the supplies you need do not come. Be amazed, learn how to trust in God, and most of all, become a servant.

Blue and Gold Heritage and Homecoming Pride!

Let's Go Bruins!!

A week full of fun and Bruin spirit proved to be a memorable time of George Fox tradition. Activities began Monday night with the midnight breakfast and female Bruin brawl, and continued on throughout the rest of the week of February 7th-13th. Students were entertained by karaoke, a 5 O'Clock People with Ebb Tide concert in Bauman, a broom hockey competition, and a guys' Bruin brawl. The Powder Puff football game ended in a win for the underclassmen.

Ending the week were maxed-out basketball games against Linfield in Miller Gymnasium. With the help of the "We're #1" blue and yellow foam fingers sold by the ASC class reps, George Fox beat our rivaling Wildcats by close margins: the men, 102-96, and women, 74-71. During halftime, a cheerleading squad created especially for Homecoming performed an exciting number.

Also during halftime was the coronation ceremony, where seniors Paul Brewer and Erin Hatch were crowned King and Queen. Other members of the court included seniors Sharon Barnett, Julie Schmidt, Caleb Harris, and Josh McPherson; juniors Austin Ashenbrenner and Francis Kuntz; sophomores Heidi VanderStoep and Tim Williams; and freshmen Jon Buhler and Christy Russo.

Retreats

Planned and led by ASC Retreats Coordinator Rachelle Staley and her committee of five, the fall and spring retreats were times of sincere repentance and open worship before God alongside record numbers of fellow students.

At Camp Howard, east of Portland, over 200 students at Fall Retreat met for passionate worship times and listened to speaker Adam James, a college student who spoke on the truth of God's Word. The heart changes set in motion by this retreat carried on into the classroom in wonderful, unexpected ways upon the students' return to campus.

More than 150 students met once again in the spring at Camp Magruder on the Oregon Coast. When they weren't heading for a visit to the Tillamook Cheese Factory or taking part in contact football on the beach, they were engaged in times of worship. Speaker Derry Long spoke on life in community and surrendering to the higher calling of the Christian life.

Not only were students refreshed after a weekend away from their worries at school, but they brought back with them a sense of renewal in the Spirit that became contagious to the others on campus. Great and mighty things happened at the retreats!

Mr. Bruin Pageant

The fourth annual Mr. Bruin pageant had 11 elected participants: freshmen Jon Buhler and John Coburn; sophomores David Kilian, Ben Lehman, and Forrest Towne; juniors Austin Ashenbrenner, Grant Christy, and Will Varin; and seniors Caleb Harris, Nolan Long, and Robert Mardock. This year's pageant benefited the Chehalem Youth and Family Services, an organization that strives to help young people in the Newberg area. The event was planned under the authority of director Sarah Lawrence, a senior.

The contestants put months of preparation into the pageant. They had to practice choreographed dance numbers, show off casual wear while being escorted by children from the charity, and perform a dance number with their chosen female escorts while displaying formal wear.

The talent segment of the pageant required the contestants to show off a unique skill. Among these crowd-wowling talents were Towne's dynamic shirt-washing, Lehman's boisterous piano duet with his sister, and Coburn's rendition of Tom Petty's "Free Falling."

Unique to this year's Mr. Bruin pageant was the parent/son trivia session. The contestants were asked questions, and their answers were compared to the answers given previously by their parents. This part proved to be a favorite with the audience.

When the evening drew to a close, Caleb Harris was crowned Mr. Bruin 2000.

Graduation

As the largest graduating class of George Fox left the University's doors, the day brought laughter and tears. With no more tests, no more finals, and no more 8 a.m. classes, there was a lot of time to celebrate the big day that had finally arrived.

The festivities were highlighted by a banquet provided by the Alumni Association, the Baccalaureate with Senior Nolan Long's father giving the sermon, and receptions hosted by the departments of each major. Finally came the undergraduate commencement ceremony. The president of United Way of Fresno County, Richard A. Kriegbaum, Ph.D., spoke to the graduates about "Leading Together" as they made their way out into the world.

The class of 2000 had many memories to take with them as they left this campus. We said goodbye to athletes, musicians, actors and friends, but we will never say goodbye to their spirit, their craziness, and their love for God through all they did.

Clubs

Campus organizations are as diversified as Fox students themselves. For every individual person on campus, there is another set of interests and hobbies to be represented. Whether it be an academic honor society or a volunteer service program, the various clubs are offered to cater to every student possible -- because we know that no two people's roads are exactly alike.

Bruin Hosts

The Bruin Hosts, a group of students formed under the direction of Sports Information Director Blair Cash, welcomed fans and other people to the basketball games here at Fox. The Hosts took tickets, stuffed and handed out programs, and welcomed people at the door with a friendly greeting and a smile. This dedicated group of students helped bring a sense of community to the competitions.

Pep Band

A musically talented group of students "striving not to offend" made up this year's pep band. Playing popular "pep" tunes such as "Louie, Louie" during home basketball games, the band brought the crowd to its feet in excitement over their players. Led by Elizabeth DuPriest they brought an enjoyable, uplifting atmosphere and a sense of school spirit to these sporting events.

KFOX

This year was one of building from the round up for our radio station. Broadcasting 24 hours a day, even days a week for the first time ever, KFOX radio traveled across the airwaves on 9.1 FM and 1610 AM. Weekly deejay shows included "The Cami, Robyn and Nikki Show," "The Underground Show," "The Limpy Show," and "Ring by Spring." Live broadcasts of women's and men's basketball games were added to the program lineup in one of the most significant developments of KFOX programming this year.

Above: The dedicated work of the Board of Directors (Shanna Clinton, Promotions Director; Leila Cassel, Music Director; Greg Lutze, News Editor; Bennet Smith, Program Director; and Chris Peterson, Station Manager) sent KFOX across the airwaves to the GFU campus and the community of Newberg.

Darkroom

Members of the darkroom staff attended the campus events and recorded each one on film, then developed the photographs themselves. They worked hard all year capturing the activities and memorable moments of the year for students to enjoy in The Crescent and L'Ami.

When the previous editing staff left the yearbook -- having completed nothing after the first semester -- a new group of editors stepped up to the challenge. With the help of a hard working staff, the task of recording an entire school year was completed in half the usual time. The L'Ami staff worked alongside the darkroom and Crescent staffs to compile stats, memories, and pictures of the year's events that would create a quality finished product. Deadlines were even more rushed than usual, but by the end of their work, the overview of 1999-2000 at George Fox University was a worthy effort.

Crescent

The George Fox student newspaper is steadily becoming a top quality periodical, reporting campus news and providing a forum for student opinions. Under the leadership of senior Jonathan Robert The Crescent staff made some changes to improve the professionalism of the paper. It was printed on a higher quality of paper, the layout was modified and more color was used, including a full-color April Fools' Day edition. Two new editor positions were also added this year. Many of the staff will be returning, bringing with them additional ideas for making The Crescent a publication to be proud of.

Art Club

Art Club members steamrolled through a second year of artistic adventures. The group, which is open to everyone who appreciates drama, music, and the visual arts, attended a theatrical production of The Bus Stop in Portland and spent an evening at the Oregon Symphony.

As club president Micah Moss described it, the group "got back to basics" with a spirited evening of finger painting at the Foxhole. They also continued to explore the meaning of "art" with such hands-on activities as origami and henna temporary tattoos.

Above: Those are some great paper swans! Can you show us how to do that? International Club

The goals for this year's International Club were two-fold: to offer opportunities for international students at Fox to interact with each other and with American students, and to provide off-campus adventures to explore Oregon. About 15 international students participated in a variety of events, including a trip to the Tulip Festival and the Oktoberfest in Mt. Angel, Oregon. Each semester, an American family hosted a dinner for the students. They also had a chance to learn about those cultures represented as they prepared ethnic meals for each other.

Little Bruin

The Little Bruin program is an outreach of the ASC Christian Services. The program matches up George Fox students with kids in elementary or middle schools in the area. In addition to meeting with their Little Bruin each week, Big Bruins were able to invite these kids to special events or basketball games at the college for a little extra fun! Through spending time building relationships and interacting on a one-to-one basis, over 75 volunteer mentors were a positive influence in the lives of children with special needs.

Above: Sophomore Danna Magnuson and her Little Bruin, Kristy, are working hard to win the coloring contest at the Easter Egg Hunt. This program let us make an investment in the young of our community.

Urban Services

Urban Services is best known for the exciting Friday nights spent in downtown Portland with the homeless or prayer walk. Students who chose to hang out with the homeless made themselves available to talk to the people and serve them food. Students on the prayer walk traversed downtown Portland, praying at the key points of the city. These GFU volunteers experienced life-changing moments as they made themselves willing vessels and took advantage of witnessing opportunities that opened up.

Drill Team

This team came together to do what they love to do - dance. The small band of girls presented two dance numbers during the basketball season: one to a Backstreet Boys song during halftime of the first game, and the other to a swing tune during the homecoming game. "The best part of the whole thing is performing," claims member Kristina Gilroy. The team worked zealously to provide fans with spirit, entertainment, and memorable moments.

Forensics

The George Fox Forensics team competes in a variety of events including impromptu, debate, duos, extemp, and various other activities. They travel to tournaments at the University of Oregon, Portland State University, and Linfield College as well as several other places during the year. They also have the opportunity to judge at middle school and high school competitions. This year, junior Beth Plater and sophomore Jeff Kirksey even had the opportunity to compete as a duo at the national tournament in Lincoln, Nebraska!

Class Reps

Class representatives play an important role in leading their respective classes at GFU. One of their main duties is to plan two class activities each semester. This year, these included a theatre game night for the seniors, a Pictionary night for the juniors, an all-nighter in Wheeler for the sophomores, and a game night for the freshmen. Another hefty responsibility of the class reps is to plan Homecoming week: each pair takes charge over one day.

These eight students have worked hard to make this year's road one that is enjoyable for their fellow classmates!

The Supreme Court the branch of student leadership which handles all questions of constitutionality within the central ASC. The Supreme Court is also responsible for running all elections on campus.

Aside from this, they identify student concerns and interests, look into how changes can be made, and create proposals which are then taken to the administration. These students have remained diligent in forwarding their chosen proposals this year to ensure the best possible college experience for GFU students.

ELITE

For the third year, ASC sponsored the ELITE (Empowering Leaders of Integrity Through Experience) Student Leadership Conference on our campus. ELITE 2000, led by student director Amy Chapman, sought to reach Northwest college campuses with the theme "Navigating Vision." The unique aspect of this conference was the incorporation of Tilikum and the experiential learning offered there. Highlights of the April weekend conference included a keynote banquet with speaker Tom Rask, group initiatives with Gary Lawver, the Tilikum ropes course, and a wide variety of workshop speakers.

Service-Leadership House

A new program emerged from Residence Life this year. Service and leadership were combined to create a group that focused on serving the George Fox community. By doing various weekly service projects such as cleaning the dining hall and taking out garbage for the houses, the seven members learned the "ins and outs" of living in a theme house. Organized by Sharra Durham, the Dean of Students, this program will continue to make a positive impression to the GFU campus and to the city of Newberg.

Outdoor Club

Formerly known as George Fox's Snowboarding Club, the Outdoor Club has begun to broaden its horizons to offer more varied sporting opportunities. The club now boasts several divisions to attract the outdoor adventurer: mountain biking, snowboarding, hiking and backpacking, and rock climbing. The club also assists in the maintenance of the indoor rock climbing wall located in GFU's Wheeler Sports Center. One highlight for the club this year was their weekend backpacking trip in Sisters.

Below: Professor Clark Campbell and senior Joyce White hobnob at a Psychology Club barbecue held at the professor's home to start off the school year. Other club members included club president Bonnie Swift, Chantelle Dalke, Shelina Andrews, Kelly Boeve, and Tim Jones.

Psych

The Psychology Club is a club for the psych majors and minors. PSI CHI is the honor society for psychology majors. One of the goals of the group is to better get to know fellow classmates in the Psychology major. They did this through social get togethers like barbecues.

The club also worked together to raise money for various projects, like selling Entertainment books for the Northwest Medical Teams. They also raised money to send their students to a WPA conference to present their research projects.

Sigma Zeta

Biology, chemistry, and other science majors made up Sigma Zeta, a group of 12-15 people, led this year by president Kirsten Kessler. Members met once a month for times of social interaction with others within their major -- a Star Wars movie marathon, for example. They once hosted a very relaxed "Big Question Night" at professor Dwight Kimberly's home, freely dissecting his perspective on such topics as bioethics. The club hosted the Oregon Academy of Sciences research symposium this year and also focused their efforts on community service, leading tours of EHS for visiting middle schoolers.

Below: President Brandt was present for the Alpha Chi induction this spring. He appears here with the new 2000 inductees as well as the officers from this year's chapter, Nick Willis, Stephanie Horner, and Sabrina Bailey.

Alpha Chi

Alpha Chi is an honor society open to upperclassmen in any discipline whose GPA rates among the highest 10% of their class. The George Fox chapter was led by advisor Chris Koch and by club president Nick Willis. Members would travel to area conferences to present academic material related to their particular course of study. The prowess of our top students surely contributed to the university's highest academic rating in US News and World Report.

PWCB

The staff of PCWB (the living areas of Pennington, Carey, Willcuts and Beebe) was led by a new face this year. Rob Simpson, along with his wife Cami and son Alec, joined the George Fox community with a strong passion for serving college-aged students. The PCWB staff planned a variety of activities for their residents during the year, but tie-dying was hands-down the biggest hit!

ED-U

Two dorms came together as one staff that would be called EDU (standing for Edwards and University Halls). Jonathan Meeks led this staff solo for the first semester and was then joined in January by his new wife, Heather. EDU was a staff that loved nothing better than to serve each of their residents daily. The greatest memory of the year was the Christmas party the held with President Brandt in attendance

HMS

A staff of three guys and seven girls was led through the year by their personal comedian, a.k.a. Area Coordinator Cara Copeland. New to Fox this year, Cara came to us from Oklahoma with her husband Andy and her dog Clarabelle. The Hobson-Macy-Sutton staff was known for their wide range of theme parties in the newly remodeled Sutton Lobby.

Houses

This staff of nineteen was led by the only familiar AC face on campus, Kim (Cliffe) Stave. The large staff was a new mix of apartment and house managers. They kept busy by implementing a variety of activities for their residents and left a positive impression on the whole campus when they put together a pampering night during finals week, offering massages, facials, and smoothies.

ASC Central Committee

Good times!

With the mission of “inspiring the hope and giftedness in others through Christ’s example,” this year’s Central Committee served as a voice for the students of GFU. Members of the committee oversaw all departments of the Associated Student Community including the Foxhole, ELITE, class representatives, clubs, ASC Communications, the Supreme Court, ASC Activities, and on- and off-campus ministries. A special project ASC took on this year was renovating the SUB basement and turning it into a recreation center for students.

“Being on Central Committee has been comparable to training for a marathon,” said Secretary Carrie Russo. “It’s tough and it’s hard. It’s a lot of work. It’s intense, but when you take a step back from it, you realize how much you’ve learned and grown.”

Fine Arts

An uncanny number of George Fox students unveiled some kind of artistic talent. Several venues awaited those who would try their hand at the collegiate arts: vocal ensembles, drama performances, art shows, and more. These artisans, thespians, and vocalists not only honed their own skills and gained new experiences, but also entertained and amazed the rest of us with the caliber of their performances on stage.

Concert Band/Handbells

This year was a big one for the George Fox Concert Band. After a month-long trip to China last May, the band returned to school in the fall with high expectations for the year. In the first concerts of the year, the Pop's concert and MasterPeace, the band had a spectacular showing. Their talents and emotion poured out of their music. In the spring, the band went on a week-long tour to California. The week included several concerts, a little sight-seeing, and even a short trip to Disneyland!

The band ended the year with a bang at the Spring Concert as they said farewell to band director Dennis Hagen. A shower of confetti and a magnificent performance was the perfect retirement present for Dr. Hagen, whose contribution to the music program at Fox over the years has been very significant.

The handbell choir, led by Dave Howard, was a unique ministry that introduced a different kind of music to the special holiday performances. These instruments incorporated a traditional sound into the music enjoyed by George Fox audiences.

Above: A bird's eye view of the vocalists at work. With over seventy dedicated individuals in this one ensemble, several years worth of musical training and expertise are represented here.

Right: Freshman Jon Bul leads his fellow choir members in a concert performance "Battle Hymn of the Republic." He sang this solo again for choir's appearance at undergraduate commencement.

Concert Choir

"Loud is not thrilling ... thrilling is thrilling!" This statement is just one of the many things that choir director Derric Johnson taught the George Fox University Concert Choir this year. In its usual tradition of excellence, the choir continued to make beautiful music and, at the same time, bring praise and glory to God.

One of the highlights of the year, as always, was the MasterPeace service. The choir led the congregation in Christmas carols, and then sang a few of their own songs. They put on several other noteworthy performances over the course of the year, including an Easter performance at Elsinore Theater and an appearance at the Naval Museum in Portland where they sang to commemorate its 100th anniversary. Each and every vocal performance provided an opportunity for this talented group to glorify God while positively representing the university.

DaySpring

George Fox's very own eight-part singing ensemble, led by Derric Johnson, has established itself as a mix of Fox public relations and ministry through song. This year's members included group veterans Wendy Clark, Matt Magee, Bethany Wheatcraft, Thomas Payne, and Leah Weare, along with newcomers Sharon McKee, Nolan Long, and Trevor Hurley.

The vocal group has become one of the university's most recognized entities, representing the Fox community values through such venues as the Presidential Legacy Campaign. This year, they performed with the jazz band and made their trademark appearance as the Dickens carolers at the EasterPeace Christmas performance. The ensemble toured around the Northwest for the entire month of May, traveling as far as Wyoming and California. The highlight of this tour? Singing at Focus on the Family in Colorado Springs. Schools, churches, prisons, and retirement homes all welcomed DaySpring as they shared their vocal talents and harmonized together in praise to the Lord.

University Players

The Players this year continued their tradition of sharing the Gospel message through entertaining and thought-provoking skits. Many of the humorous and often challenging sketches are written and adapted by the Players and their advisor, Mel Schroeder. The comical vignettes poke fun at human foibles and everyday hypocrisy within the church, while at the same time, pointing toward God's grace.

The team kept a rigorous schedule this year, performing at Bruin Preview Days, chapel, and Parents' Weekend. They also performed at both Christian and secular grade schools, churches, and even a prison. In addition, they played to a full house at Players Presents, a yearly performance of the team's skits and musical interpretations that is open to the campus and the public. The Players visited the maximum-security prison in Sheridan on two occasions this year. They encouraged the inmates with the news of God's love, and were richly blessed in return by the joy the men displayed in their own relationships with Christ. The Players also went on a 10 day tour to Southern California during spring break where they ministered at churches and homeless shelters. After her first year as a Player, junior Melissa Mock reflected on how rewarding it has been to perform for receptive audiences: "There are so many people who are hungry for God." Whether performing for grade school children or convicts, the University Players impacted lives with their heartfelt message of God's redeeming grace.

Night of Broadway

Night of Broadway was a student-led, student-directed production and collection of some of the favorite songs from the greatest musicals ever created. This third annual Night of Broadway provided entertainment and enjoyment for students and community members alike. The proceeds for this year's show went to Mercy Corps International, a relief corporation geared toward providing assistance to people and countries in crisis. Cast members included: Ben Baarspul, Ryan Blanchard, Kristen Buhler, Angie Burns, Elise Campbell, Wendy Clark, Hayley Cummings, Nathan Dunkin, Jeremy Fuller, Gillian Gould, Matt Gustafson, Annie Haglund, Kristina Hargie, Geoff Haug, Trevor Hurley, Kelsey Kaopuiki, Bethany Kim, Lyndsay Kirkman, Jeff Kirksey, Tim Lafolette, Heather Lilley, Nolan Long, Mary Martin, Sharon McKee, Ben McReynolds, Nathan Parkes, Sarah Radley, Jon Roberts, Lisa Roberts, Sara Rogers, Stephanie Shankland, Selena Snider, Jillian Stillinger, Jana Swindler, Adam Sweeney, Ruth Ulmer, Ben Weinert, Bethany Wheatcraft and Dan Willis. The performance was narrated by vocally articulate freshman Matthew Gerber.

Right: "Bah Humbug!!" Ebenezer Scrooge stresses to his nephew the importance of money while plotting his attack on the poverty-stricken townsfolk.

Scrooge

Christmas came to George Fox early this year with the November opening of "Scrooge: The Musical." Based on Dickens' classic A Christmas Carol, the musical version of this story features several original songs by Leslie Bricusse, including "I Hate People," "Happiness," "December the 25th," and "Thank You Very Much." Guest director Sandy Shaner was given the task of taking a 39-person cast, including 15 children, and transforming them into London townsmen.

Shaner's efforts were a complete success! Everything from the period costumes to the cobblestone streets helped to transport the audience back in time to 19th-century London. Andy Copeland, in his George Fox theatre debut, was absolutely believable in the role of Scrooge. Other notable performances included Nick Willis as both Marley and the Ghost of Christmas Present, Ben Weinert as Tom Jenkins, and Sarah Radley, in her musical theatre debut as the Ghost of Christmas Past. The exceptional cast and the universal message of "Scrooge" touched the audience, and everyone left the theatre in the Christmas spirit!

The Tempest

What do you get when you add a shipwreck, an enchanted island, mischievous nymphs, and a brilliant cast and crew of George Fox students? A dazzling production of Shakespeare's The Tempest! Directed by Joshua Fuhrer, this fanciful play tells the story of Prospero, Prime Duke of Milan, and his daughter Miranda, both banished to an isolated island by Prospero's usurping brother, Antonio. When Antonio sets sail with his ally, the King of Naples, Prospero uses his supernatural powers and the aid of the cunning spirit Ariel to shipwreck his enemies on the island.

Through unique characters like the monstrous Caliban and the three-in-one spirit Ariel, the play explores definitions of freedom and humanity. Intrigue and comedy are woven into this tale that culminates in the wedding of the King's son, Ferdinand, and Miranda, finally uniting Milan and Naples. The play concludes on a note of mercy when Prospero's revenge transforms into forgiveness toward those who have wronged him.

Sophomore Margo Findley, who portrayed the comical jester, Trinculo, was thrilled to work with "such a talented cast that got along so well." The cast had a unique opportunity to work with professional Shakespearan actors in mastering the Elizabethan language of the play. Nathan Dunkin, who played the villanous Antonio, found it "quite beautiful the way the poetry came to life through the acting." In addition to skillful acting, the colorful costumes, stunning special effects, and an impressive set helped make The Tempest a production to be proud of.

The Little Mermaid

The month of April saw the opening of yet another George Fox theatrical success with the opening of The Little Mermaid. The play, written by Rosemary Nursey-Bray, combines the best parts of Hans Christian Andersen's original story and the Disney film version of The Little Mermaid, giving his version of the story a happy ending. This play was written for the distinct purpose of entertaining children: everything from the blacklight fish scenes to the big feathery birds was created so that children would enjoy the play. The cast of The Little Mermaid performed for several grade school audiences before they even opened for the general public.

However, the play didn't just entertain children. Adult audiences appreciated The Little Mermaid as well, with its witty humor, intense villain, and romantic love scenes. All of the performers were very believable and helped to transform Wood-Mar Auditorium into an underwater world. Especially notable performances included: Tonya Lynne Wildhaber as "Booby the Gannet"; Stephanie Shankland as "Janagga", the evil sea witch; and Katie Wacker as "Sun-Through-Water", the little mermaid. The magical effect that was created by the cast and crew of The Little Mermaid touched the audience and was another job well done for the theatre department!

Theatre Games

One of the most popular events on campus is always Theatre Games. Not only is it a chance to spend quality time on the stairs in EHS, but also to watch twelve of your friends do goofy things on the stage in Wood-Mar for points. This year, three teams competed for the title of Theatre Games Champions as dazzling emcees Melissa Mock and James Kramer hosted the evening's events. The ultimate winner was Friday Night Live, composed of Ryan Dougherty, Erin Stelzenmueller, Nick Willis, and Andrew Fodge.

Sportsman

With thirteen varsity teams -- not to mention the intra-mural opportunities -- athletics are one of the most significant facets of George Fox's extra-curricular life. And although Bruins pride themselves on their physical competitiveness on the field, court or track, perhaps the true victory is achieved through the sportsmanship they consistently show as they battle for the win.

Men's Cross Country

It was a most unusual year for veteran coach Wes Cook and his George Fox cross country teams. For the first time since his initial year with the program in 1986, the Bruins did not have anyone qualify for the national championships. The Bruins' best bet to make it this year, men's senior Brandon Workman, became ill a few days before the regional meet and was not at full strength on the day of the run, finishing out of the chase for a berth at nationals.

Workman finished well enough, though, to earn NCAA Division III All-West Regional honors, as did sophomore surprise Steve Willmer, who came on strong enough at the end of the season to pass up his upperclassman teammate. Both also earned All-Northwest Conference honors as the Bruins ran a strong second to conference champion Puget Sound. Freshman James Eubank finished one slot out of both All-Conference and All-Region honors.

During the regular season, Workman captured the Bear Fete Invitational -- GFU's home meet at Champoeg State Park -- and the Willamette Open, earning NWC Athlete of the Week honors both times.

Women's Cross Country

Despite a promising start, women's cross country took a downturn from last year's national berth to end up 5th in conference standing and 12th in the Western Region. The team was hampered at mid-season by the loss of its top runner, junior Marisa Merritt, to a stress fracture in her right foot, but the other Bruins showed continued improvement as the season progressed.

Junior Jamie McElwain picked up the slack to fill the number one slot and improved her PR by leaps and bounds. Freshman 800-meter specialist Mimi Van Hooser was a surprise at the longer distance and ended up receiving the "Rookie of the Year" award at season's end. Senior Kasey Burk won "Most Improved", having bettered her 5k time by several minutes.

Though the 1999 season was not as successful as in past years, the women's team loses only three seniors and will have added maturity and experience heading into their next season. An unusually close camaraderie promises to aid them as well.

Men's Soccer

The 1999 men's soccer season was not the sort to which the Bruins have become accustomed. Their 7-12-0 record marked the end of a string of 13 straight winning seasons and their first losing season in veteran coach Manfred Tschan's 17-year career. The team entered the season with only three returning starters and had no seniors to provide much-needed experience and leadership for a young squad.

Nevertheless, the team remained competitive, dropping six of its games by only a single goal. Junior midfielder Merrick Brownlee finished second in the Northwest Conference in scoring with 29 points on a team-high 11 goals and seven assists, and was named to Second Team All-Conference.

Women's Soccer

This year marked a year of new beginnings for the women's soccer team. The loss of four critical seniors made things uncertain as to whether the team could uphold their winning record of the past. Despite this obstacle, however, the coaching staff was encouraged by their numbers. With 23 women, the Lady Bruins had their biggest team in several years.

The team, coached by Byron Shenk and Tim Tsohantaridis, came through with an overall record of 11-8-0 and 7-7-0 in conference play. The girls put their heart and soul into each game they played. They sweated, toiled, and practiced while the majority of us were making plans for the weekend or for Thanksgiving break. Our Lady Bruins performed at their peak, and the student body recognizes their achievements this year as individuals and as a team. Simply put, the ladies' soccer team had more than game this fall semester.

Volleyball

Despite posting one of the best seasons in George Fox volleyball history, the 1999 season came to a disappointing close when the Bruins failed to receive their deserved bid to the NCAA Division III Tournament in their first year of NCAA eligibility.

There was still much to be proud of, however. The Bruins finished with a 19-7 overall record and tied for second in the Northwest Conference at 12-4, one game behind league champion Pacific Lutheran. This marked the 13th straight winning season for Bruin volleyball.

GFU players claimed numerous individual awards. Senior outside hitter Sharon Barnett repeated as NWC Player of the Year, led the conference in kills per game, and finished her four-year career as the all-time Bruin leader in kills and digs. Senior middle blocker Beth Davis led the conference in blocks per game, ranked 7th nationally, and received First Team All-Conference and GTE Academic All-District VIII honors. Both Barnett and Davis were named to the NCAA Division III All-West Region Team, while senior middle blocker Wendy Clark made Second Team All-Conference.

Men's Basketball

A 4-2 record to start the season had the Fox men's basketball team hoping for big things, but a lack of size proved to be the Bruins' undoing as they settled for a final record of 8-16. Bigger conference opponents proved especially tough on the Bruins as they ended with a 4-12 conference mark and an eighth-place finish.

Nevertheless, there were quite a number of achievements the team could point to with pride. Freshman forward Dan Weber earned NWC "Player of the Week" honors with an auspicious debut the very first week of the season. The Bruins as a team finished third in the nation in three-point field goals per game. Several impressive wins rocked the court, including a rare victory at Western Baptist and a stunning 102-96 upset of defending conference champion and pre-season league favorite Linfield before a Homecoming crowd of 2,100.

The biggest story of the season for the Bruins, however, was the play of junior wing Jordan Green. In a small lineup that usually had to rely on outside shooting, Green was the Bruins' leader on the perimeter, firing in an average of 18.6 points a game, second in the conference. His steals-per-game average of 3.62 led the conference, was seventh in the nation, and set a new Fox record.

Women's Basketball

A trip to the NCAA Division III Women's Basketball Championships and a spot in the "Sweet 16" in their first year of NCAA eligibility was the proverbial "frosting on the cake" for the 1999-2000 Lady Bruins, who put together a record-breaking season. For openers, the Bruins tied a record for best start to a season when they won their first four games. After going 7-2 in non-conference play, the Bruins opened the NWC play with a loss at Linfield on January 7th -- and did not lose again until February 18th. The 11 game winning streak included two wins over nationally ranked Pacific Lutheran.

The Bruins' final 23-5 record gave them new school records for wins in a season and for best winning percentage. They were second in the nation in three-pointers per game and set a new team record for threes in a game with 16 at Lewis & Clark. Junior center Katie Greller captured NWC "Player of the Year" honors while leading the conference in scoring, and ranking second in field goal percentage, third in rebounding, and fourth in free throw percentage. Starting wing Nicole Prazneau and point guard Becky Thompson, both sophomores, also received NWC accolades, Prazneau making Second Team and Thompson Honorable Mention. To top it all off, head coach Scott Rueck was named NWC "Coach of the Year".

Baseball

The 2000 baseball season will have to go down as one of the best in team history, with the Bruins' first appearance in the NCAA National Tournament and numerous new team records. A 15-1 start got the Bruins off to the best start in school history, earning the team a spot in the national rankings. A nine-game winning streak to end the season boosted the team to a No. 10 rating at the end of the regular season, the highest ever for a George Fox baseball team.

The Bruins captured their third Northwest Conference crown in the last five years with an 18-6 league mark, one game ahead of school rival Linfield. Their strong finish and conference title earned the Bruins the No. 1 seed in the West Regional at Georgetown, Texas, where the season ended with losses to Cal Lutheran and Southwestern University.

Coach Pat Bailey was named NWC Coach of the Year for the third time in five seasons, while six Bruins received All-Conference honors. Catcher Derek Birley and pitchers Ryan Alvis and Kess Romano were First Team selections, while second baseman David Farrell and outfielders Jason Schilperoort and Garrett Bates were given Honorable Mention.

Softball

In what proved to be Chris Gross' eighth and final season as George Fox softball coach, the Bruins posted a 6-25 record and went 3-18 in the conference, finishing eighth.

The Bruins opened the season going 1-3 in the Central Washington Tournament and were 2-3 in the University of Redlands Tournament. Their lone conference winning series was a 2-1 edge over Whitworth College, including a 12-4 win that was the team's biggest offensive output of the season.

Pitcher-shortstop Beth Davis completed a fine four-year career by being selected First Team All-Conference for the second year in a row as a utility player. She was 3-11 on the mound, led the staff with 42 strikeouts, and threw nine complete games. Third baseman Brittany Baird was selected as Honorable Mention All-Conference as she led the team with a .300 batting average and ranked fifth in the league with 101 assists in the field. Left fielder Anita Orłowski belted five homeruns with 18 RBI, and outfielder Kelsey Bates stole 10 bases to rank among the conference leaders.

Men's Track

The men's team finished a strong fourth at the Northwest Conference Meet and, with only two men participating, tied for 49th out of 76 teams at the National meet to bring an end to the 2000 season.

Discus thrower Ian Strauss and steeplechaser Brandon Workman were invited to participate in the NCAA Division III National Championships in Naperville, Illinois, based on either meeting automatic qualifying marks or posting provisional marks good enough to fill out the fields in their events. Senior Workman earned All-American honors with a sixth-place finish in the 3000m steeplechase, setting a new personal mark and recording the third-best time in Bruins history in the event. Also a senior, Strauss missed All-American status by only one place, finishing seventh with a toss of 156-9.

On the season, Strauss posted the second-best marks in Bruin history in both the discus and the shot put, while senior Jon Roberts' javelin toss of 192-02 was the third-best ever. Despite capturing the #10 mark on the GFU All-Time list, the men's 4x400 relay team of Zach Davidson, Tyler Gassaway, Eric Costa, and David Plotts was barely edged out of competing at the national meet. The high level of talent on the men's side, though not sending great numbers to the national level, did help push the Bruins to a combined men's and women's conference championship title.

Women's Track

A first-place finish for the women's team in the Northwest Conference Championships, hosted by George Fox, highlighted an outstanding track and field campaign for the Bruins in the spring of 2000.

The team unseated Pacific Lutheran, winners of the last four conference meets and 18 of the last 19, in a surprisingly easy victory as the women won by a margin of 31 points over runner-up Linfield. Coach Wes Cook earned NWC "Women's Coach of the Year" honors for leading the Bruins to the championship.

Competing at Nationals in Naperville, Illinois, were pole vaulter Heather Hunt, triple jumper Jocelyn Kennedy, and hurdler Sharon Barnett. Junior Hunt had the second-best vault in the country, yet finished in 7th place, while senior Kennedy had the nation's 13th-best mark and did not qualify for the final heat. Both women's marks were school records, as was freshman Erin Simon's 115-0 in the hammer throw. Senior Sharon Barnett's time in the 100m hurdles was the second-best ever and just off her own record of 14.57, while senior Karrie Nelson ran it in 14.87 for the third-best time. Barnett and Hunt were selected as co-MVPs for the women's team.

Others who had fine seasons and narrowly missed qualifying for the nationals included Ember Brosius -- on consortium from Gordon College -- in the 1500m and 5000m runs, Nelson in the 100m and 400m hurdles, and "Rookie of the Year" Megan Heuberger in the 400m hurdles.

Men's Tennis

In his first full season as men's tennis coach at Fox, former Bruin Rick Cruz guided the Bruins to an 8-12 overall record and a 6-6 mark, good enough for fifth place in the Northwest Conference. In the season-ending NWC Tournament, the Bruins went 1-2 and finished sixth.

Top players for the Bruins were #1 Todd Hammans and #2 Ryan Cruz, who were both named First Team All-Conference. Hammans, who was ranked 28th in the NCAA Division III West Region, was 14-6 in earning All-NWC honors for the second straight year, while Cruz, a Second Team pick last year, was 12-8. As a doubles team, the pair were 15-5 and ranked 13th in the West Region. Freshman Joe Gonzales was a pleasant surprise, posting a winning record at the #3 singles spot. He also teamed up with Jared Pearson to have a winning record in the #3 doubles position.

Women's Tennis

It was a learning season for a young and inexperienced women's tennis team as the Bruins went 1-15 overall under new coach Mark Sendelback. The team's only win came over Mills College, but there were several close matches that went down to the wire, especially late in the season as the team improved. The Bruins dropped a 5-4 decision to Pacific in the opening round of the conference tournament to bring the year to a close.

Although her record was only 3-13, top singles player Rachel McComb impressed the conference coaches enough with her hustle and determination to win a spot on the All-Conference Second Team. Kim Reimer had the best overall mark, going 6-11 at #2.

Intramurals

For students who wanted to play sports just for fun, intramural sports was the way to go, as the competition was less emphasized. Most of the participants were not active in the school's athletic teams at the same time as an intramural season. The idea of intramural sports was to get everyone who wanted to be involved in a sport involved.

Participants chose their own team names and their own players -- though some sports did require a certain quota of females per team. For approximately a month and a half, teams would battle at their chosen sport -- including volleyball, basketball, indoor soccer, floor hockey, flag football, or wallyball -- for the prized "Intramural Champions" T-shirt.

Once sign-ups were complete, staff members Jason Baugh, Neil Cantrall, Paul Gramenz, Josh McPherson, Travis Melvin, and Nicola Murphy made up the schedule, organized and refereed the games, provided for immediate needs at competitions such as injuries, and generally made sure that the seasons ran smoothly. Intramural sports were an exciting, enjoyable activity for those who participated in them this year!

People

The individuals of George Fox are who make the university the place that it is. Each person is different and brings his or her own unique traits to the rest of the community. Add to the mix students, professors, the administration ... even the Bon Appetit staff, and you've got a diverse, eclectic balance of strengths, personalities, opinions, and dreams that make George Fox the place we call home.

Faculty and Staf

Students are not the only people on our campus. The guidance of numerous professors, adjuncts, coaches and other superior personnel enable us to get the quality education we do at George Fox. The roads they each have chosen have led them here as well, and we are blessed to have a very diverse, unique group of intellectual and spiritual mentors in our midst. They have been strategically placed in our lives ... and one or more of them may play an integral role in helping you discern which road you will walk.

Walk Your Road

This year was a learning experience for all that were involved in the creation of the 1999-2000 yearbook. Off to a late start, the four of us editors set to work on making sure the student body would know that this year did exist. We hope that this yearbook will be a reminder to follow your dreams.

This yearbook had many people involved in the production, we definitely couldn't have done it ourselves.

A huge thanks to...

- ~ Leslie Sesser, ASC Communications Director ... how did you drag us into this?
- ~ Scott Wade, Student Leadership Advisor ... thanks for being our sounding board.
- ~ Kendra Faith Charles ... you designed a great cover; thanks for sharing your talent.
- ~ Annette Johnson, our Herff Jones representative ... you're the best; what would we do without you?
- ~ Our staff and contributing writers ... thanks for committing to work on this book halfway through the year, you were great.
- ~ Diane Funderhide and Anita Cirulis in University Relations ... thanks for helping us obtain all the pictures.
- ~ Blair Cash, Sports Information Director ... you saved us a lot of interview and writing time.
- ~ Carley Egelston and the Darkroom staff ... we would have had a hard time making a yearbook without your dedication to taking pictures.
- ~ All of you who let us have your own personal pictures, some of the best images come from you. Keep snapping memories.

The L'ami office has become a second home to us at times, so we are glad that this book is finally in your hands.

Co-Editors Marisa Merritt, Amy Chapman, Jessica Smart, and Stina Larson

Colophon

Volume 66 of the George Fox University Yearbook, the L'ami, was printed by Herff Jones yearbooks in Logan, Utah.

Photos provided were taken by the ASC Darkroom Staff and by Anita Cirulis in the Public Relations office

The cover was designed by Kendra Faith Charles. Silkscreen colors used were Navy 9, Brill Orange 10, and Purple 11 on a base of Vibra Tex Brushed Silver #1091.

The endsheet is Vibracolor 01 stock with applied inks Navy HJ281, Orange HJ165. Paper stock used throughout the book is #100 Bordeaux. Layouts were designed by Layout Editor Jessica Smart, with staff assistance

Typefaces included in this edition are Palatino, Graphite Light, Helvetica, and special designs by Kendra Faith Charles.

The 1999-2000 L'ami had a press run of 1000 copies. Distribution began for the semester of 2000
